THE OLD RELIABLE

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

THE CHURCHES.

First Presbyterian.

Rev. George L. Curtis, Pastor. Sunday services: Morning worship 10.30 Sabbath-school, 12.10. Christian Endeavor, 7.00. Evening worship, 7.45 o'clock Prayer-meeting each Wednesday night at 8.

Presbyterian Church.

Rev. George A. Paull, Pastor. Divine Worship at 10.30 A. M. and 7.45 P. M. Sunday -school at 12 M. Young People's Prayer Meeting at 6.45 P. M. A cordial welcome to all.

German Presbyterian.

Sunday services: Preaching by the pastor, Rev. Rest. Bottinghausen, at 10.30 A. M. and 7.30 P. M. Sunday-school at 2.15 P. M. Prayer-meeting, Tuesday at 8 P. M. Young People's Society, Friday, at 8 P. M. Young Men's Christian Association meets on Thursday evenings at 8 P. M.

First Baptist Church.

Rev. Charles A. Cook, pastor. Services at 10.30 A. M. and 7.30 P. M. Sunday-school at 12. All cordially invited. All seats free.

Park Methodist Episcopal.

Rev. Dr. C. S. Woodruff, pastor. Men's meeting Mispah Brotherhood 9.45 A. M. Church Services at 10.30 A. M. and 7.30 P. M. Sunday-school at 12 M. Vesper service Epworth League at 7 P. M. Tuesday evening's classes meet at 8 P. M. Wednesday evening, prayer Service at 8 P. M. Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock Junior Epworth League.

Watsessing M. E. Church.

The Rev. P. G. Blight, Pastor. Morning Ser ices at 10.30 A. M. Sun ay-school at 2.30 P. M. Epworth Leg ue at 7 P. M. Evening Service at 7.45, Prayer Service, Wednesday 8 P. M., Sunday Class-meeting at 9.30 A. M.

Church of the Sacred Heart.

The Rev. J. M. Nardiello, pastor. First Mass, 6.30 A. M. Mass and sermon, 8.30 A. M. High Mass and sermon, 10.30 A. M. Sunday-school, 3 P. M. Vesper service, 3.30 P. M.

Christ Episcopal.

Corner Bloomfield and Park Avenues. The Rev. Edwin A. White, rector.

SUNDAY SERVICES:

Celebration of Holy Communion, 8 A.M. Morning prayer and sermon, 11 A. M. Sunday-school at 9.45 A. M. Choral Even Song at 4 P. M.

East Orange Baptist Church.

Prospect Street, Rev. M. V. McDuffie, pastor. Services at 11 o'clock A. M and 7.45 P. M. Sunday School at 3.30 P. M. Prayer-meeting at 7.45 Friday evening

Montgomery Chapel.

Wilson B. Parsons, Superintendent. Preaching every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Service of Song at 7.45 P. M. Sunday-school at 3 P. M. Young People's meeting at 7.15 P. M.

During the week the gymnasium and reading-room will be open for men and boys on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday, evenings from 7.30 to 10 P. M. and on Saturday afternoon from 2.30 to 5.30 P. M.; for ladies and girls on Thursday evening from 7.30 to 10 P. M. Montgomery Chapel Cadets will drill on Friday evening.

Ascension Chapel.—Episcopal.

Corner Montgomery Street and Berkeley Avenue. Rev. Mr. Lewis R. Levering, Minister in charge. Holy Communion 8 A. M. Sundays. Sunday-school at 2.30 P. M. Evening service at 7.45 o'clock.

Olivet Lake Union Church.

Franklin street, corner Belmont avenue. Sabbath services: Sunday-school, 2 P. M. Preaching, 7.45 P. M. Week-day prayer meeting, Wednesday evening 8 P. M. Everybody welcome.

Glen Ridge Congregational.

Corner of Ridgewood Avenue and Clark Street. Rev. Elliott Wilbur Brown, pastor. Sunday Services, 10.45 A. M. and (beginning with October) 7.45 P. M. Sunday-school 12 o'clock. Young People's Society Christian Endeavor at 7 P. M. Church Prayer-meeting Wednesday at 8 P. M.

St. John's Lutheran Church.

Corner Liberty Street and Austin Place. Rev. H. A. Steininger, pas or. Services 10.45 A. M. and 7.45 P. M. Sunday-school at 9 P. M. Ladies' Aid Society first Sabbath of every month at 2 P. M. Society last Thursday of every month at 7.45 P. M.

Unity Church, (Unitarian).

Rev. Lewis Willis Sprague, Minister. Unity Hall, South Fullerton Avenue, near Bloomfield Avenue, Montclair. Services at 10.45. Morning Service at 11 o'clock. Topic, "Life Problems II. Limitations and How to Accept Them." Seats free. All are welcome.

To Aid a Library.

The Auxiliary Committee of Watsessing Free Public Library, having put a number of new books in circulation during the summer, invite the friends of the library and all who are interested in the work it is doing to call and inspect the building and books at an afternoon tea, which will be given at the library, Broad street, near the Watessing station, on Thursday, November 5, from 3 to 6 o'clock. A silver donation, to be used for the purchase of magazines, will be received at the door.

Hopping-Smith.

A very pretty and largely attended home wedding took place on Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, No. 267 North Sixth street, Newark, when their youngest daughter, Miss Etta E. Smith, and Burnett Wilkinson Hopping were united in marriage by Rev. T. J. Coultas of the Roseville M. E. Church. The parlors, in which the ceremony took place, were tastefully decorated with palms and cut flowers by Holterman & Woltinger. Miss Grace Jamcovitus, a friend of the bride, played the wedding march.

The bride was given away by her father. She was attired in a gown of white crepede Chine over taffeta, with point lace and pearl trimmings, and veil. Her only ornament was a diamond brooch, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. The maid of honor, Miss Anna M. Smith, sister of the bride, wore a gown of dawn gray crepede Chene over gray taffeta, trimmed with embroidered chiffon, and carried pink chrysanthemums. The best man was Frank Ashley of East Orange. The ushers were Floyd Lanning of Florham Park and Arthur Schlobohm of Newark.

The bride's gift to the maid of honor was a seal ring with diamond setting. The groom presented each of his attendants with a handsome pearl scarf-pin.

A reception followed the ceremony, at which the young couple received the congratulations and best wishes of their many relatives and friends. Guests were present from Newark, Philadelphia, Washington, Albany and Newburgh. The wedding supper was served by Davis of Newark.

After the reception the bride and groom left on an extended wedding trip through the South, and on their return they will reside at 207 North Seventh street, Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopping were the recipients of a large number of handsome presents.

Mghrmann-Taylor.

Miss Clara Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Taylor, and Frederick E. Mohrmann, both of this town, were married at the home of the bride's parents, No. 9 Franklin street, at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edwin A. White, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, assisted by Rev. F. G. Blight of the Watsessing Methodist Church. The bride was attired in white satin with pearl trimmings and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Clara Drake and Miss Mary Caffery, both of this town, wore gowns of white and carried bouquets of white roses. Miss Bertha Heckel of Belleville was the maid of honor. She wore white and carried pink carnations. John Maxfield of this town was best man, and Harry Atkins and Henry Atkinson were the ushers. Mr. and Mrs. Mohrmann will reside here.

Williams-Hardy.

The marriage of Clarence L. Williams of Orange and Miss Mabel Estelle Hardy, daughter of Adolphus C. Hardy of Franklin street, this town, took place Thursday night in the Westminster Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. George A. Paull officiated. The bride was attired in a costume of white Liberty satin trimmed with pleted chiffon and silk appliqus. She carried bridal roses. The maid of honor, Miss Mabel Caroline Palmer of this town, wore pink chiffon over pink taffeta and carried chrysanthemums of the same color. Wm. Marsh of Orange was best man, and the ushers were Clifton Riker of East Orange and Herbert Banta of Ridgewood. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony in the church, and about a hundred guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Williams were the recipients of many presents. On their return from a wedding trip they will reside in Orange.

Ingles-Hughes.

The Fort Wayne, Ind., Morning Journal gave a long account of the marriage of Miss Carrie Elizabeth Hughes, a former member of the First Presbyterian Church quartette to, Mr. James Ingles of Detroit, Mich. The wedding took place Wednesday evening in the Westminster Church, Fort Wayne. A chorus of fifty girls sang the wedding choruses. The bride's gown was fashioned of silk used in her mother's wedding dress, and was worn in a modern fashion with insertions of Brussels lace and white panne ribbon, of which there were alternate rows put together with the fagot stitch now so popular. The bodice was high in the neck and the sleeves of elbow length. The skirt hung over other skirts of chiffon and silk and a veil of tulle extended to the end of the train.

Morgan-Cadmus.

Miss Anna Westervelt Cadmus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cadmus of No. 30 Beacon street, and Dr. Browne Morgan of New York were married at the home of the bride at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. George Louis Curtis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Miss Hazel Morgan of New York, a sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Egbert Cadmus, a brother of the bride, was best man. A reception to the immediate relatives followed, after which the bridal couple started on an extended Southern trip. They will reside in New York.

Van Wagoner-Gault.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gault, 97 Grove street, Montclair, last week, their daughter Rubena Jean was married to Rev. Charles Davis Van Wagoner of Russell, Minn., formerly of this town. Rev. R. M. Sommerville, D. D., of New York performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. George Louis Curtis of this town. The bride was attired in white satin trimmed with lace. She wore a tulle veil and carried bride roses and ferns. Her only ornament was a gold locket and chain, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor was Miss Mabel Blauvelt of Newark, who was gowned in white albatross with pink trimming. She carried pink roses and ferns. Mrs. William Baldwin Wyman, a sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. Her gown was of ivory-white satin and she carried white chrysanthemums and ferns. Paul C. Carey of East Orange acted as best man. The ushers were Charles L. Price of Newark and John K. Gault, brother of the bride. The house was decorated with cut flowers, autumn foliage and ferns. The reception room in which the ceremony was performed was banked with white cosmos and palms. The decorations in the dining room were pink. Mr. and Mrs. Van Wagoner will reside in Russell, Minn.

Jerome Place Nuisance.

Moses Hewitt of Jerome place appeared before the Town Council at the last meeting of that body, and made a complaint about a nuisance suffered by the property-owners along that street, caused by the overflow of the Orange Valley outlet sewer. Mr. Hewitt said that he brought the matter before the Board of Health some time ago without satisfactory results. Chairman Peterson said that the situation was due to neglect on the part of the Orange sewer officials, as they had been notified to build up the manholes to a sufficient height to prevent any overflow. On motion of Mr. Conlan the clerk was instructed to again write to the Orange officials and call their attention to the matter.

Violin and piano instruction at pupil's home or, teacher's residence. For terms address William J. Muir, No. 385 Bloomfield avenue, Bloomfield, N. J.—Advt.

WHY HE DOES IT.

Druggist W. W. Keyler Gives Reasons For Selling at Half-Price.

"It isn't often that I have faith enough in the medicines put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said druggist W. W. Keyler to one of his many customers, "but I am glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that plan.

"The Howard Co., in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorized me to sell the regular fifty cent bottle of their specific for half-price, 25 cents, and, although I have sold a lot of it, and guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory.

"One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small-dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water.

"I am still selling the specific at half-price, although I cannot tell how long I shall be able to do so. Any person who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion, or a general played-out condition, ought to take advantage of this opportunity. If the specific does not cure them, they can come right back to my store, and I will cheerfully refund their money."—Advt.

NAPOLEON'S LETTER.

How the Initial "M" Punctuated the Great Conqueror's Career.

From Marengo to Moscow was the long swing in the pendulum of Napoleon's life, the one the greatest battle out of which he came with his life, the other the abyss which engulfed him. Mr. J. M. Buckley, who is a literary expert on coincidences, points out how strangely the letter M played a part in the life of the great conqueror.

Marboe was the first to recognize the genius of Napoleon at the Ecole Militaire. Melas opened to him the way to Italy. Mortier was one of his first generals. Moreau betrayed him, and Murat was the first martyr to his cause. Marie Louise partook of his highest destinies. Metternich conquered him on the field of diplomacy.

Six marshals—Massena, Mortier, Marmont, Macdonald, Murat and Moncey—and twenty-six of his generals of divisions had names beginning with the letter M.

Murat, duke of Bassano, was the counselor in whom he placed the greatest confidence. His first great battle was that of Montenotte, his last was that of Mount St. Jean. He gained the battles of Moscow, Montmirail and Montereau. Then came the assault of Montmartre. Milan was the first enemies' capital and Moscow the last in which he entered.

He lost Egypt through the blunders of Menou, and employed Miollis to make Pius VII. prisoner. Malet conspired against him, afterward Marchant. His ministers were Maret, Montalivet and Mollien. His first chamberlain was Montesquieu.

Wordsworth's Secret.

And Wordsworth's secret? Any poet's secret? Well, for aught we can see, it remains a secret, a something as far beyond human subtlety to explain as it is beyond human ingenuity to produce. "The wind bloweth where it listeth." "Genius," "inspiration"—it is hard to get on without the old words, vague though they be. Nay, it is precisely because they are vague that they serve so useful a purpose. Even Professor Raleigh, after speaking almost contemptuously of "impatient critics" who "can see no reason for Wordsworth's 'amazing inequality'" by assuming that sometimes he was inspired, at other times not, is heard a little afterward lamenting that in Wordsworth's case, as in Coleridge's, "the high tide of inspiration was followed by a long and wandering ebb."

One feels like quoting Lowell, whose arrow in such competitions is apt to hit the white. Wordsworth, he says, "was not a writer to be stretched across the word; neither was Isaiah, but he had a rarer gift, the capability of being greatly inspired."—Bradford Torrey in Atlantic.

Phil May and His Models.

Many of the figures in Phil May's book "Guttersnipes" were sketched from memory while staying up the river.

"One day," he said, when speaking on the subject, "I saw a delightful little model for my purpose, a dirty, ragged bit of girl humanity. I spoke to her, left a message on my card for her to give to her mother. Next morning she came in charge of an older sister, as tattered and unkempt as herself. Then I had made my sketches of the two of them I asked the older one if she had any more sisters like herself. 'Oh, yes, four or five, worse than I am.' 'Bring them round,' said I. 'Is the little un to come again?' she asked. 'No, I've done with her.' The next day they came, the little un included. She had persisted in it, for she said: 'He's my artist. I found him first.'"—London Tit-Bits.

Fireproof Wood.

Though there are a number of different kinds of wood, ebony, ironwood, etc., of such close, hard fiber that even the fiercest fire has difficulty in "getting hold" of it, there is only one sort, so far as now known, that is practically fireproof. This is a small, scrubby tree, a native of South America, called the shopala, with thick, tough, stringy bark full of a sort of fire resisting sap. This curious shrub grows largely on the great, grassy savannas, which are very fire almost every year during the heat of the summer. There it thrives splendidly, for the annual scourge only kills off its bigger and hardier competitors and leaves the ground free for the growth of this vegetable asbestos.

Smart Sayings.

Lord Palmerston's reply to the illiterate member who asked him, "Are there two hens in 'Oniton'?" is a specimen of his father historian's style. "No; only one. That's why beggs are so scarce there."

Mr. Bignell's comment upon a portrait of himself, "Is it not hideous—and so like?" exhibited a discernment not common with unflattered sitters.—"Twenty Years in Parliament."

The Social Side.

Mrs. Waldo-Cecil—He has a barrel of money.

Edith Waldo-Cecil—But is he all right socially?

Mr. Waldo-Cecil—Oh, yes; he hasn't the least idea how he got it!—Puck.

Pitting It Out.

Dedode—That man called me a liar, a cad, a scoundrel and a puppy. Would you advise me to fight for that?

Old Blunt—By all means. There's nothing nobler in this world, young man, than fighting for the truth.

As Others Knew Her.

"She seems to be a natural flirt," he said.

"Natural?" the woman impatiently replied. "There's nothing natural about her but the framework."—Chicago Record-Herald.

BLOOMFIELD TRUST CO.

No 1 BROAD STREET.

September 30, 1903.

Assets, - - - $750,000.00
Deposits, - - - 622,000.00
Capital and Surplus, - $128,000.00

Interest paid at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum.

ACCOUNTS INVITED.

Information cheerfully given on all points connected with our business.

FOOT BALL.

The season is here and the goods ready for your inspection. Everything for the game—

BALLS 40c TO $4.00 EACH.

AMMUNITION.—Shells of all sizes, grades and loads, and at city prices. A large stock always on hand.

CHAS. W. SMITH,

BICYCLES AND SPORTING GOODS,

Telephone 68-a. 25 BROAD STREET.

Take an Ingersoll Dollar Watch on your hunting trip and leave your expensive one at home.

QUICK HEAT.

A room cheerfully warm in a few minutes—and no coal, ashes or dust to bother with—

A Gas Heater is the Thing.

And it costs nothing except when you actually want it.

Sold and connected by

GAS DEPARTMENT,

Public Service Corporation of New Jersey,

Montclair District, 458 Bloomfield Avenue.

TELEPHONE 92.

OIL STOVES.

Brooklyn Oil Heater, 4.50.

Universal Oil Heater, 3.50.

A SPECIAL KEROSINE OIL FOR OIL STOVES

Also a Complete Line of Gas Mantles, Gas Chimney, Tubing and Burners.

—ALSO A COMPLETE LINE OF—

. . HARDWARE, PAINTS AND HOUSEFURNISHINGS . .

FRONAPFEL BROS.

326 Glenwood Avenue, Bloomfield, N. J

We have the Most Complete Stock of the Best Brands

—OF—

Wines

—AND—

Liquors

IN THE STATE.

Monogram, 8 years old, full quart..75c

Finck's Golden Wedding, 10 years old, full quart..$1.00

Domestic Port and Sherry, 5 years old, full quart..40c

Hunters, Wilson, Old Crow, DeWares, Trimble and Belle of Nelson, Rye Whiskies, $1.00

H. Snyder & Son,

279 Glenwood Avenue,

Phone 83-3. BLOOMFIELD, N. J.

FREE

This magnificent PARLOR LAMP, beautifully decorated, with an order for 20 lbs. of New Crop, 60c. Tea, or 20 lbs. Baking Powder, 60c. 8 lbs., or an assorted order for 20 lbs., 60c. 60 lbs. Rosson Coffee, 25c. 4 lb.

CUT-OUT, which can be exchanged for other goods at our store. Ask for list. Goods delivered free to any part of the city. Telephone 1-A.

The Great American Tea Co., 292 & 294 Mount St., N. J.

JAMES ARTHUR. JOHN STANFORD.

ARTHUR & STANFORD,

Plumbing, Tinning and Gas Fitting

SEWER CONNECTIONS.

Steam, Hot Air and Hot Water Heating.

All new work guaranteed and kept ... mates cheerfully given. Jo...

449 Bloomfield A...

Long Distance T...

Do Not Pay $150,000—Vote "AGAINST"—Not Worth Over $75,000.

W. L. Moore

THE BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN.

VOL. XXII. NO. 28. BLOOMFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1903. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

TOWN COUNCIL.

MANY PUBLIC MATTERS CONSIDERED AT MONDAY NIGHT'S MEETING.

The Lackawanna Railroad Ordered to Repair Toney Brook Embankment—A Demand Made Upon the Erie Railroad Company for a New Bridge at Williamson Avenue—Flood Damages Repaired.

The Town Council met in regular session on Monday night, and discussed and acted on a number of matters of public concern. C. M. Van Wagner, who owns a number of houses in Railroad place, and whose property was badly damaged in the recent flood, requested the Council to take some action towards having the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad Company repair the broken embankment of Toney's brook at the north end of Railroad place. Mr. Van Wagner said he had personally requested the railroad company to attend to the matter, but without effect.

On motion of Councilman Conlan, Town Clerk Johnson was instructed to write to the railroad company to the effect that the Council desired the company to take immediate steps to repair the embankment.

Hugh D. King brought the matter of Cedar street opening to the attention of the Council again. Councilman Moore, of the Legal Committee, who requested that he be given an opportunity to make a personal investigation of the legal obstacles in the way of carrying out the work, stated that owing to press of other matters he had not had time to attend to the affair.

Mr. King suggested that the Council accept as a legal highway such parts of the street as could be opened free of legal impediments.

Mr. Moore said that such action would be a violation of an ordinance on the town books prohibiting the acceptance of a street not having an outlet, or streets less than fifty feet in width. He considered the ordinance a good one, and he would not like to see it departed from, or any exceptions made to its general enforcement.

Councilman Conlan, Chairman of the Sewer Committee, reported that the Orange city officials had as yet paid no attention to the request of the Council that steps be taken to abate the nuisance complained of by Jerome place property owners, and he made a motion that the Town Clerk serve notice on the Orange officials that unless some action was taken by them inside of ten days the Sewer Committee of the Town Council would have the work done at the expense of the city of Orange.

Councilman Conlan presented the financial report of Town Treasurer Harry L. Osborne for the month of October, and also recommended the issuing of a town note for $10,000 in anticipation of taxes.

For the Sewer Committee Councilman Conlan recommended the placing of another manhole in Belleville avenue, at the point where the Canton Riker of East Orange and Herbert Banta of Ridgewood. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony in the church, and about a hundred guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Williams were the recipients of many presents. On their return from a wedding trip they will reside in Orange.

Ingles-Hughes.

The Fort Wayne, Ind., Morning Journal gave a long account of the marriage of Miss Carrie Elizabeth Hughes, a former member of the First Presbyterian Church quartette to, Mr. James Ingles of Detroit, Mich. The wedding took place Wednesday evening in the Westminster Church, Fort Wayne. A chorus of fifty girls sang the wedding choruses. The bride's gown was fashioned of silk used in her mother's wedding dress, and was worn in a modern fashion with insertions of Brussels lace and white panne ribbon, of which there were alternate rows put together with the fagot stitch now so popular. The bodice was high in the neck and the sleeves of elbow length. The skirt hung over other skirts of chiffon and silk and a veil of tulle extended to the end of the train.

Morgan-Cadmus.

Miss Anna Westervelt Cadmus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Cadmus of No. 30 Beacon street, and Dr. Browne Morgan of New York were married at the home of the bride at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. George Louis Curtis, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating. Miss Hazel Morgan of New York, a sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Egbert Cadmus, a brother of the bride, was best man. A reception to the immediate relatives followed, after which the bridal couple started on an extended Southern trip. They will reside in New York.

Van Wagoner-Gault.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Gault, 97 Grove street, Montclair, last week, their daughter Rubena Jean was married to Rev. Charles Davis Van Wagoner of Russell, Minn., formerly of this town. Rev. R. M. Sommerville, D. D., of New York performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. George Louis Curtis of this town. The bride was attired in white satin trimmed with lace. She wore a tulle veil and carried bride roses and ferns. Her only ornament was a gold locket and chain, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor was Miss Mabel Blauvelt of Newark, who was gowned in white albatross with pink trimming. She carried pink roses and ferns. Mrs. William Baldwin Wyman, a sister of the bride, acted as matron of honor. Her gown was of ivory-white satin and she carried white chrysanthemums and ferns. Paul C. Carey of East Orange acted as best man. The ushers were Charles L. Price of Newark and John K. Gault, brother of the bride. The house was decorated with cut flowers, autumn foliage and ferns. The reception room in which the ceremony was performed was banked with white cosmos and palms. The decorations in the dining room were pink. Mr. and Mrs. Van Wagoner will reside in Russell, Minn.

Jerome Place Nuisance.

Moses Hewitt of Jerome place appeared before the Town Council at the last meeting of that body, and made a complaint about a nuisance suffered by the property-owners along that street, caused by the overflow of the Orange Valley outlet sewer. Mr. Hewitt said that he brought the matter before the Board of Health some time ago without satisfactory results. Chairman Peterson said that the situation was due to neglect on the part of the Orange sewer officials, as they had been notified to build up the manholes to a sufficient height to prevent any overflow. On motion of Mr. Conlan the clerk was instructed to again write to the Orange officials and call their attention to the matter.

Violin and piano instruction at pupil's home or, teacher's residence. For terms address William J. Muir, No. 385 Bloomfield avenue, Bloomfield, N. J.—Advt.

WHY HE DOES IT.

Druggist W. W. Keyler Gives Reasons For Selling at Half-Price.

"It isn't often that I have faith enough in the medicines put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure," said druggist W. W. Keyler to one of his many customers, "but I am glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that plan.

"The Howard Co., in order to get a quick introductory sale, authorized me to sell the regular fifty cent bottle of their specific for half-price, 25 cents, and, although I have sold a lot of it, and guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory.

"One great advantage of this specific," he continued, "is its small-dose and convenient form. There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water.

"I am still selling the specific at half-price, although I cannot tell how long I shall be able to do so. Any person who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion, or a general played-out condition, ought to take advantage of this opportunity. If the specific does not cure them, they can come right back to my store, and I will cheerfully refund their money."—Advt.

NAPOLEON'S LETTER.

How the Initial "M" Punctuated the Great Conqueror's Career.

From Marengo to Moscow was the long swing in the pendulum of Napoleon's life, the one the greatest battle out of which he came with his life, the other the abyss which engulfed him. Mr. J. M. Buckley, who is a literary expert on coincidences, points out how strangely the letter M played a part in the life of the great conqueror.

Marboe was the first to recognize the genius of Napoleon at the Ecole Militaire. Melas opened to him the way to Italy. Mortier was one of his first generals. Moreau betrayed him, and Murat was the first martyr to his cause. Marie Louise partook of his highest destinies. Metternich conquered him on the field of diplomacy.

Six marshals—Massena, Mortier, Marmont, Macdonald, Murat and Moncey—and twenty-six of his generals of divisions had names beginning with the letter M.

Murat, duke of Bassano, was the counselor in whom he placed the greatest confidence. His first great battle was that of Montenotte, his last was that of Mount St. Jean. He gained the battles of Moscow, Montmirail and Montereau. Then came the assault of Montmartre. Milan was the first enemies' capital and Moscow the last in which he entered.

He lost Egypt through the blunders of Menou, and employed Miollis to make Pius VII. prisoner. Malet conspired against him, afterward Marchant. His ministers were Maret, Montalivet and Mollien. His first chamberlain was Montesquieu.

Wordsworth's Secret.

And Wordsworth's secret? Any poet's secret? Well, for aught we can see, it remains a secret, a something as far beyond human subtlety to explain as it is beyond human ingenuity to produce. "The wind bloweth where it listeth." "Genius," "inspiration"—it is hard to get on without the old words, vague though they be. Nay, it is precisely because they are vague that they serve so useful a purpose. Even Professor Raleigh, after speaking almost contemptuously of "impatient critics" who "can see no reason for Wordsworth's 'amazing inequality'" by assuming that sometimes he was inspired, at other times not, is heard a little afterward lamenting that in Wordsworth's case, as in Coleridge's, "the high tide of inspiration was followed by a long and wandering ebb."

One feels like quoting Lowell, whose arrow in such competitions is apt to hit the white. Wordsworth, he says, "was not a writer to be stretched across the word; neither was Isaiah, but he had a rarer gift, the capability of being greatly inspired."—Bradford Torrey in Atlantic.

Phil May and His Models.

Many of the figures in Phil May's book "Guttersnipes" were sketched from memory while staying up the river.

"One day," he said, when speaking on the subject, "I saw a delightful little model for my purpose, a dirty, ragged bit of girl humanity. I spoke to her, left a message on my card for her to give to her mother. Next morning she came in charge of an older sister, as tattered and unkempt as herself. Then I had made my sketches of the two of them I asked the older one if she had any more sisters like herself. 'Oh, yes, four or five, worse than I am.' 'Bring them round,' said I. 'Is the little un to come again?' she asked. 'No, I've done with her.' The next day they came, the little un included. She had persisted in it, for she said: 'He's my artist. I found him first.'"—London Tit-Bits.

Fireproof Wood.

Though there are a number of different kinds of wood, ebony, ironwood, etc., of such close, hard fiber that even the fiercest fire has difficulty in "getting hold" of it, there is only one sort, so far as now known, that is practically fireproof. This is a small, scrubby tree, a native of South America, called the shopala, with thick, tough, stringy bark full of a sort of fire resisting sap. This curious shrub grows largely on the great, grassy savannas, which are very fire almost every year during the heat of the summer. There it thrives splendidly, for the annual scourge only kills off its bigger and hardier competitors and leaves the ground free for the growth of this vegetable asbestos.

Smart Sayings.

Lord Palmerston's reply to the illiterate member who asked him, "Are there two hens in 'Oniton'?" is a specimen of his father historian's style. "No; only one. That's why beggs are so scarce there."

Mr. Bignell's comment upon a portrait of himself, "Is it not hideous—and so like?" exhibited a discernment not common with unflattered sitters.—"Twenty Years in Parliament."

The Social Side.

Mrs. Waldo-Cecil—He has a barrel of money.

Edith Waldo-Cecil—But is he all right socially?

Mr. Waldo-Cecil—Oh, yes; he hasn't the least idea how he got it!—Puck.

Pitting It Out.

Dedode—That man called me a liar, a cad, a scoundrel and a puppy. Would you advise me to fight for that?

Old Blunt—By all means. There's nothing nobler in this world, young man, than fighting for the truth.

As Others Knew Her.

"She seems to be a natural flirt," he said.

"Natural?" the woman impatiently replied. "There's nothing natural about her but the framework."—Chicago Record-Herald.

MR. MACDONALD'S LETTER

A Protest Against Any Reconsideration of the Town Council's Resolution of October 8—Unofficial Members of the Committee of Fifteen Sneered.

When Chairman Peterson put the usual question at the Town Council meeting Monday night asking if any citizen present had anything to bring before the Council, Samuel J. Macdonald arose and read the following voluminous protest against any action by the Council in the way of reconsideration of the resolution of October 8, wherein the Council called a special election for the purpose of having the people vote on a resolution to purchase the Orange Water Company's plant at the price asked by the company, namely, $150,000. Mr. Macdonald said:

To the Town Council of the Town of Bloomfield:

GENTLEMEN: As a citizen of Bloomfield, anxious to arrive at an understanding of the water question, I attended the public meeting last evening. I listened very carefully to the report of the Committee of Fifteen and to the report of the Town Council, and also to all the speeches which followed. I was endeavoring to digest in my mind and judgment all of the enormous mass of facts and figures and other considerations which were laid before the meeting when, to my great surprise, those who were in control of the meeting, apparently having measured their strength, insisted upon this important and vital question being put to a vote then and there. A vote upon such, which in a large meeting is uncertain and often misleading, was taken upon the resolutions offered by the Committee of Fifteen, and they were declared carried by the Chair, although to my ear it appeared that the vote in the negative was fully equal to that in the affirmative.

The resolutions offered by the Committee of Fifteen and thus declared carried by the Chairman in terms merely requested the Town Council to reconsider, and on a vote of entire people of the town; but, despite the use of the word "request," by very evident intent and purpose of those resolutions in such a manner is merely an adroit attempt to forestall the citizens and to prevent, if possible, the question being submitted to the people.

The Committee of Fifteen, i. e., in reality the Committee of Eight, call a public meeting in a hall which will not accommodate more than 800 people, and then, without their Chairman, declared certain resolutions carried, to practically decide in this manner a question which is of the greatest importance to submit to the entire electorate, to be voted upon by them after careful and critical examination of the entire question.

This savors very much to me—perhaps because I have not been brought up in awe of the slightly honorable gentlemen who compose the Committee of Eight—of adroit and skilful politics manœuvring on the part of the eight, instead of a sincere and honest request for the best interests of the people of Bloomfield.

But the Committee of Eight say that their action is inspired solely by the desire to "save the expense" of an election. Commendable economy. But these are the very same gentlemen who employed a lawyer at the city's expense and were evidently told to do—not at their own expense, but at the expense of the town. They had no authority to employ counsel—then—except, indeed, to save the expense to themselves. So that their tremendous anxiety now to save the town expense seems more like a pretext than an honest intention.

The counsel employed at this committee was drawn up by their lawyer, and even had to be read by him instead of by one of the committee or the clerk of the meeting, for the very evident reason that it was not a report of the committee at all, but was, in very fact and truth, an adroit and clever legal argument by the learned and capable counsel, intended for the purpose, if not of laying all the facts bearing upon the water question before the people, but solely to adduce if possible the purchase of the Orange Water Company's plant in Bloomfield.

This argument of counsel was not only sought to be strengthened by an imposing array of figures, but the most adroit and effective part of it was embodied in a clever and skilful attempt to throw suspicion, if not odium, upon the honorable body, and thereby to prejudice the minds of the people against the proposed purchase and mislead them from the real and simple issues.

Think of it! A learned and highminded counsel covertly insinuating accidents—or those, to put it more correctly, whom he expects to pay him for his services—and paying tribute to pure and dishonest motives to them. This certainly indicates, to say the least, that his interests and sympathies—whatever they may be—are not identical with those of his ostensible clients.

Boiled down and stripped of its immense verbosity, the report of the Committee of Eight amounts to this: That they believe that the present water plant in Bloomfield can be duplicated for much less than $150,000. There are no reliable or expert figures given by them upon which this alleged belief is based. And they are very careful to say nothing about the time which would be required to construct and install a new plant comprising twenty-eight miles of pipe, etc.

Against this alleged belief we have the

Continued on page 8.

DEFEAT the Proposed Purchase of the Orange Water Company's System for $150,000.00. Its true value does not exceed $75,000.00.

Election: Tuesday, November 10.

VOTE "AGAINST"

DO NOT FAIL TO VOTE.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

The Half-Century Celebration of the Institution of the Park M. E. Church will be Observed To-morrow—Appropriate Services to be Continued Throughout the Week—Programme of Services as Arranged by the Committee.

While the history of Methodism in this community runs much further back than official records can be found to substantiate, there is no question but what a half-century mark of the establishment of a certain and continuous evidence of Methodism here has been reached. The corner stone of the Park Methodist Episcopal Church, on the west side of the public common, and at the corner of Broad and Park streets, was laid in 1853, and the semi-centennial of the institution of that church will be celebrated with appropriate services, beginning to-morrow and continuing throughout the week. The Rev. Dr. C. S. Woodruff, the present pastor of that church, assisted by committees chosen from the church membership, has arranged for a series of interesting services, beginning to-morrow morning and concluding Thursday evening.

The committee of this committee was drawn up by their lawyer, and even had to be read by him instead of by one of the committee or the clerk of the meeting, for the very evident reason that it was not a report of the committee at all, but was, in very fact and truth, an adroit and clever legal argument by the learned and capable counsel, intended for the purpose, if not of laying all the facts bearing upon the water question before the people, but solely to adduce if possible the purchase of the Orange Water Company's plant in Bloomfield.

This argument of counsel was not only sought to be strengthened by an imposing array of figures, but the most adroit and effective part of it was embodied in a clever and skilful attempt to throw suspicion, if not odium, upon the honorable body, and thereby to prejudice the minds of the people against the proposed purchase and mislead them from the real and simple issues.

Think of it! A learned and highminded counsel covertly insinuating accidents—or those, to put it more correctly, whom he expects to pay him for his services—and paying tribute to pure and dishonest motives to them. This certainly indicates, to say the least, that his interests and sympathies—whatever they may be—are not identical with those of his ostensible clients.

Boiled down and stripped of its immense verbosity, the report of the Committee of Eight amounts to this: That they believe that the present water plant in Bloomfield can